

Speaker
Author
Coach
Airline Pilot
Mother

FEATURED IN

SPEAKING TOPICS

- How to find resilience through being the best version of you
- Strength - but not as you know it
- How to navigate change
- How to optimise You
- How to be part of a minority

FIND ME

 ch@charlottehillenbrand.com.au

 www.charlottehillenbrand.com.au/invite www.linkedin.com/in/charlotte-hillenbrand/

ABOUT CHARLOTTE

Charlotte Hillenbrand is the lawyer who became an international airline pilot and then has become an author, speaker and coach. No stranger to change, having lived in several countries and done a career change once before, when she was forced to do a complete career pivot again this has sent her on a completely new trajectory. After 15 years as an airline pilot, Charlotte has drawn on all her skills and experiences, those that got her into the cockpit of a widebody jet and then out from it with her optimism intact, and written a book that will help people go through change with more ease and new perspectives. Her first book will be published in early 2023.

Charlotte is passionate about human potential. She has coupled this passion with her own experiences, and studies in applied neuroscience and positive psychology. She speaks about how every individual can access resilience and teaches simple and efficient ways to do that. Charlotte also teaches about strength and resilience in her a mentoring and coaching business. After working with Charlotte her clients say that they see real, tangible results, are able to take back control over their life and access their best life.